Arts and Crafts Festivals in Ohio Offer Arts for Everyone

Ohio's fairs and festivals are a source of great pride for local and ethnic communities and provide a venue for artists and craftspeople to share their creativity with hundreds of thousands of Ohioans and visitors from out of state. In Ohio, festivals range from arts-and-crafts bazaars to book fairs to multi-day outdoor music concerts, and they all play a crucial role in increasing our state's cultural tourism, celebrating our heritage, and supporting our economy.

We invite everyone to use the Ohio Arts Council's Ohio Arts Festivals and Competitions Directory to find new opportunities to enjoy the arts and crafts of Ohio. Creative Ohioans looking for places to display and sell their work—from traditional crafts to contemporary creations—will find a festival for them in this directory. Anyone seeking works of art and crafts of lasting value as gifts or for their own pleasure also will find this listing helpful.

We hope you will find frequent opportunity to use the Ohio Arts Festivals and Competitions Directory as you explore the many opportunities to share the arts and crafts created in Ohio—the artistic heart of our nation.

How This Directory Is Compiled

The Ohio Arts Council sends questionnaires to the promoters of arts festivals and competitions in Ohio, seeking information about their events. Information provided by the promoters is arranged by date and location in sections labeled Festivals and Exhibitions, followed by alphabetical indexes of Festivals by Name, Festivals by City, Exhibitions by Sponsor, and Exhibitions by Name.

Events are classified as juried, non-juried, invitational, or juried invitational, according to information supplied by the promoters. Those classifications are defined this way:

Juried - A neutral panel or juror reviews each applicant's work or slides and makes final selection decisions;

Non-juried - All applicants are accepted until all spaces are filled, first-come first-served;

Invitational - Promoters or their staff select exhibitors from applications or by direct invitations;

Juried invitational - All applicants, past and present, are reviewed by a neutral panel or juror, then the panel or juror makes recommendations to the promoter or chairperson who makes final selection decisions.

Important Notice

Listings in the Ohio Arts Festivals and Competitions Directory have been compiled based on information supplied by proprietors and promoters of the individual festivals and competitions. The Ohio Arts Council (OAC) is not responsible for the accuracy of this information.

Information may be subject to change. Prior to traveling, please confirm dates and locations of festivals by visiting the festival's website or contacting them via phone.

Artists and craftspeople should be aware that a listing in this directory does not constitute an endorsement by the OAC of any particular festival or competition or its promoter or proprietor. Artists and craftspeople are advised to conduct their own inquiries about any event that interests them. We have noted where vendor and/or public parking is provided free of charge. This information may not be comprehensive.

While we try to make this list as extensive as possible, this is not a listing of all Ohio festivals. Travelers may discover other worthwhile festivals, events, and arts destinations by calling 1-800/BUCKEYE, by contacting local convention and visitors bureaus around the state, which are listed on pages 77-84 in this directory, or by visiting ArtsinOhio.com.
